THINK THE LINK

The Baltic International Summer School 2017 (B.I.S.S.) at HCU Hamburg gives a common ground for a continuous academic network of 10 universities from the Baltic Sea Region and between all disciplines of the built environment such as architects, urban planners, designers and other related professions.

The area east of Hamburg's city center, in particular around the infrastructural join "Elbbrücken" will be the stage for the topic 2017 "City Elements – Infrastructure and Networks Shaping Harbour Areas". Students are asked to deal with water and land relationship in this strategic point, looking for answers and project proposals. The results can range from architectural to engineering concepts for the development of the cities. Links will not only emerge between districts and cities but also between countries and cultures in the Baltic Sea Region.

The outcomes of the Summer School will be presented at the public Finissage on Saturday, August 19th.
